Cultivated Creations is not just a business, but a network of relationships woven together to put on special events for our valued clients.

Vision

To curate not only memorable events for our clients in the community, but to cultivate a longstanding relationship with them.

"a network of relationships woven together to put on special events for our valued clients"

At Cultivated Creations we offer high end Event Planning and Coordination services. We provide services for Weddings, social events, corporate events, brand activations, and more. Our focus is on carefully curated and detailed events. We believe that every detail influences our clients and guests at events. This company was started in June of 2022 by Courtney Theis, a college student with a love for all things people and events. Our client focus is younger people on the central coast spanning all the way down to Southern California. We are a small company with less than five employees. We hope to portray an image that is relationships focused. The company truly cares about their clients and all guests they interact with, and they want that to be portrayed in everything they do. Our client needs are carefully planned events. The benefit is enjoying the event, and their expectation is an excellent job done where their guests leave feeling cared for.
